Wrought Iron, or mixture of Wood and Iron; sneeding always Iron.
The Bridges or wholly Wrought Iron except the floor, which is wood, like the floors of ordinary Bridges. We are prepared to make these structures in any quantities, at prices about as follows:
Railrond Bridges, 50 teet span, 8,000 lbs, $17.50 per foot lineat.
Common Road or Turnpike, 50 feet span, 2,600 lbs, $37.50 per foot lineat.
Roots, all Iron, 50 feet width of building, $25 per 100 squae 6 feet, part wood and part tron, from $12 to $20 per square.

squa efect, part wood and part fron, from $12 to $20 per square.

Increase of span of bridges or width of buildings makes an increase of price, but the Increase in price is no more than the increase of wooden structures.

We can furnish from of every size to work into Bridges and Roofs, and Rallroads or other companies busing the right to use them and the iron of us, can make their own structures one third less than the above prices. Our structures weigh only from 1-4 to 1-10 that of wood; difference in freight in a long distance buys our work. In a few days we will have at our Factory, 497 West Third street, in this city, four different specimens of our Roof, where the public can inspect them to their audistaction. We beg them to give us a call, as all our work is warranted, and we ask no pay on ordinary jobs until the work is done and approved, payments being secured on contracting. HWENTY SIX THOUSAND COPIES of this claborate work have already been sold! The flattering considence indicated by this liberal paironage has induced the Author and Publishers to revise the Work thoroughly, to bring it down to the latest period, and to introduce New and Sup rior Illustrations. Thus improved and perfected, it is believed that no other Universal History can compare with this, for the fullness and accuracy of its statements, the convenience of its arrangement, the clearness, simplicity and dignity of its style, for the consequent interests which it excites, and the valuable instruction which it imparts, or for the durability and neutness of its mechanical execu-CARD. We state positively that this Work is not, and will not be for sale in any bookstore in the country. It is offered only by our Soliciting Agents, one of which is the distributor of this Circular, and by whom alone the

From Rev. Dr. Tefft, late President of Gennesses Col-Gentlemen:—Having made a particular examination of Goodrich's "History of All Nations," I am tree to say, that I know of no work, great or small, that contains half the amount of useful and entertaining matter for family reading. It is written in Mr. Goodrich's best style. It is a fibrary, a historical library of itself; and it is worth, according to the usual cost of good reading, two or three times the money you ask for it. It is no wonder that you have to keep a power press running coastantly to supply the orders for these volumes; for the public have only to know their value to make them a universal want with all classes.

I nm, gentlemen, most respectfully yours,

Extract from a Letter from Ex President Fillmore. Extract from a Letter from Ex-President Fellmere.

I think it eminently deserving of the public patrouage. It is necessarily brief, but it brings under review, with its admirable illustrations, the principal anbjects worthy of attention had it actions, and to the young especially, it is invaluable.

I have been familiar with Mr. Goodrich's writings for many years, and have the pleasure of a personal acquibitance with him; and think blin admirably qualided for imparting instruction in a way that brings it within the reach of the common mind.

Some years ago, having business which first called me to the Capital of Mexico, and thence through the interior of the country to the northward, I met with several thrilling adventures, which I have recorded for the benefit of whom through the interior of the country to the north-ward, I met with several thrilling adventures, which I have recorded for the benefit of whom soever may take an interest therein, omitting only the dates, they being non-essential to the interest of the narrations themselves.

The first of the series occurred on the route between Vera Cruz and the city of Mexico. In the regular diligencia running between the places just mentioned, I had taken passage, and had passed through the beautiful city of Jalapa, and entered the gloomy town of Perote, without meeting with any unusual incident, though being continually warned to be on my guard against the dangers of the road. At Perote, where we hatted for a relay and refreshments, all my fel-low-passengers took leave of me, very solemnly assuring me that, if assailed by the ladrones, or robbers, it would be much better for me to take matters quietly, and suffer myself to be genteelly plundered, than to run the risk of having my broat cut for resistance, as I had somewhat boldly proclaimed it was my intention of doing. I thanked them for their advice, and replied that I would take the matter into serious considera

A glance at her bewitching dark eyes showed that she was one who was naturally of social dis position; and as we rattled away from the gloomy town, I took the liberty of opening a conversa

Wines and Liquors Used.

I am not at all surprised, Mr Editor, to see disposition to abandon wines from the sacra worn out debauchee, being in a monner, past amount of vile imitations of the different vari redemption; but with us the case is different lettes of bignors called wines are in our markets, Let the truth be told. The sooner we come to a and nonly of them, I have no doub, impacted; confession of our sins the better. And heaven and so perfect are the imitations that they can only be detected by chemical tests. During the grant this contession may be sincere, and rub summer of 1°56 1 analyzed a lot of liquors for off the sins of the thousand and one swindling some conscientions go attemed of our nwa city banks in our midst, which have disgraced our who would not permit me to take samples to my office, but meisted on am bringing my chemicals and apparatus to their store that they might see the operations I accordingly repaired store and analyzed samples of sixteen different lois Among them were Port Wine, Sherry Wine, and Madeira Wine. The distilled h quors were some pure, and some vile and pernicuous imitations; but the wines had not one ed with elder berry juice, with alum, sugar, and neutral spirits. The base of the Sherry Wine was wort of pale malt, sulphuric acid, prussic acid, from the biner alum oil, per centage of al coholic spirits from brandy added. The basis of the Madeira was a decoction of hops, with sul phune acid, prussic acid, honey, &c., spirits from Jamaica rum. The same week after and lyzing the above and exhibiting the quality and character of the liquors to the proprietors, a sex ion of one of our churches in ormed me that h had purchased a gallon of the above Port Wine to be used in his church on the next Sab ath. for sacramental purposes, and that for this vile for secondental purposes, and that for this vite neixture of sulphuric acid, alum, and elder ber ry julee he paid $2.75 per gallon. That those who do not think of abandoning this delightful beverage, either as a drink, for medicinal purposes, or sacramental emblima, may be capable of discriminating between a are article of wine or a mixed or a vile imita tion of it, I will give a few reliable tests, viz-First, heat a small quantity of the liquid over spirit or oil lamp till the vapor begins to rise. the liquor be mixed, or an imitation with spirits added, by touching a lighted taper to it it will immediately take tire and continue to burn till all the added spirit is burnt out of it. then the fire is increased till ebullition or boil ng takes place, and the vapor will burn by the application of the taper, it is mixed with wine The innate spirits of pure wine will not take fire until the liquor is brought to a boil.

There are many other chemical tests which are infallable, but few can apply them. I there fore give the most simple but reliable. Second If an article which is represented to be pure uice or pure port wine should be suspected, heat as above. If the vapor will not burn when first it rises, nor will take fire from the applica tion of the taper when ebullition is produced, on may rely that there is not one drop of wine in the sample; and it, by holding some of it in your month a short time, and after spitting it out you find your teeth on edge, or upon grinding them together they appear to adhere, as if the chancel was softened, you may rely on it that that article is diluted sulphuric acid, us a
